Experts will be examined before the conclusion of the investigation, which promises to be thorough.

The Ocean Queen Mutiny.

Col. Forney, in his "Anecdotes of Public Men," says:

"The other day I called on Commodore Daniel Ammen, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and asked him to tell me about the celebrated mutiny on board the California steamer, the Ocean Queen, in May of 1864. This event, though of a recent date, has been literally sponged from the state of the general memory, though still preserved among the records of the navy. A contingent of over 200 men, most of them "roughs" who had served in the army, and had volunteered for naval service on the Pacific coast, were shipped for their destination on board the "Ocean Queen," in charge of Commodore Ammen and a subordinate officer. There were over a thousand other passengers, including many ladies and children. Justice Field, of the United States Supreme Court, was among the cabin passengers. The vessel itself was commanded by a fine old seaman, Captain Tinklepaugh. On the first day the new recruits began to show dissatisfaction with their accommodations and food, and it was soon evident that under the counsel of two or three desperate leaders, they were preparing to seize and rifle the steamer and the passengers. The Captain proposed to run into one of the nearest ports and get rid of the dangerous conspirators, but this was resisted by Commodore Ammen, who had the turbulent men in charge. He quietly reasoned with them, and assured them that as he was responsible for their good conduct, he would see to their proper comfort, but that if they resorted to violence they would be severely punished. He was so cool and kind as he made this statement that they did not think him in earnest, and proceeded with their plans. Their chief, Kelley, was a young fellow, six feet four inches, very athletic and determined. When the first demonstration was made Commodore Ammen was in a distant part of the vessel, and on hearing the noise proceeded to the scene of action. There he found Captain Tinklepaugh in the hands of Kelley, who was surrounded by the other mutineers all evidently under his orders and ready to proceed to the worst extremities. The crisis had come, and Ammen, seeing that prompt action was necessary to save the steamer and perhaps the lives of the female passengers, drew his revolver and shot Kelley dead on the spot. One of his immediate followers was killed at the same time. The effect on the others was instantaneous. They saw that the quiet man who had them in charge was resolved to enforce his authority, and they quailed. He then briefly addressed them, telling them of his determination, exhorted them to remember their duty and their flag, and was greeted with three hearty cheers. After which, under his advice, they went to their dinner. There was, of course, great consternation among the cabin passengers, but they were soon reassured by the calm demeanor of Commodore Ammen. His next step was to go straight among the remainder of the mutineers, and to call out the leaders and order them in irons. One or two attempted to resist, but when they saw that they would soon be made to follow their dead companions, who had by this time been sewed in canvas and cast overboard, they submitted. The whole affair occupied very little time; and the commander, crew and passengers were so impressed by the resolute courage of Commodore Ammen that they joined in a hearty commendation of his course. Justice Field himself addressed a strong letter to the department in earnest vindication of the wisdom and energy of his action. I do not pretend to tell the story as it fell from Commodore Ammen—so modest and so clear. His printed defense before the court martial, which he demanded, is a model of candor, and was followed by his unanimous acquittal. Had he been weak or impulsive, the scene would have ended in a grand tragedy, and perhaps hundreds of innocent persons would have perished.

THE boy Robert Gibson, who was stabbed at Rynd Farm last week, by a young lad named Staver, died from the effect of his injuries at three o'clock Thursday morning. Staver was arrested and taken to Franklin.

The "Ku Klux" Act.

The Right to Bear Arms in the Supreme Court—Custom House Investigation—Nominations Withdrawn — Boundary Line — Cavalry for the West — Coin Checks.

WASHINGTON, March 19, 1872.

"KU KLUX" CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Court of the United States had before it for argument to-day the case of the United States against Avery and others, on a certificate of division from the Circuit Court for the district of South Carolina. The defendants in this case were indicted for conspiracy under the act of the 31st of May, 1870, to enforce the rights of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States and for other purposes, known as the "enforcement" or "Ku Klux" act. The particular act charged was the murder of one Jim Williams while attempting to prevent colored citizens from voting, and to hinder and prevent their exercise of the right to keep and bear arms. A motion having been made to quash the indictment, the court was divided in opinion on the questions whether it had jurisdiction of the crime of murder charged, and whether the right to keep and bear arms is a right granted and secured by the Constitution of the United States, so as to support the charge in the indictment and render the offence cognizable by the court, and these questions were certified to this court. The Government submits that the questions having arisen on a motion to quash, this court cannot take cognizance of them. The motion being preliminary in its character and determined by the Court below as a matter of pure discretion, it is contended that the act was intended merely to visit with increased punishment offenders against the laws of the United States, who, in the act of violating those laws, shall also commit offences against the laws of States, and this it has power to do, and it naturally follows that the courts of the United States have jurisdiction to inquire into the additional fact. Nor is it an answer to say that in so doing they take jurisdiction of an offense against State laws, and of which Congress cannot give them jurisdiction. The Court merely admits evidence of a fact as a matter of aggravation of another offense. The criminal laws of several States are cited to show that in those States, when any person is convicted of a criminal offense who has before been punished by the United States or other State for a like offense, such person is sentenced to an additional penalty, and it is said that the difference between taking into account convictions of a past offense with a view to fix the punishment of a subsequent one, as in those cases, and taking into account the commission of an offense with a view of punishment of another offense contemporaneously committed, is considered merely as facts constituting matter of aggravation; as in this case there is only a difference in time, and is wholly immaterial. In neither case is punishment in contemplation of the law applied to the offense, which is regarded as an aggravating circumstance merely.

In respect to right to bear arms, it is said that the United States by reason of the power given to Congress to provide for organizing, arming and deciplining the militia, has a direct interest in seeing that the right which the Constitution itself declares to be essential to well-ordered militia is not infringed by unlawful authority, and in the absence of State legislation to punish violations of right; and it is but a reasonable construction of the act to construe it as applying to this act as well as to any other for defense. It is urged, after controverting the theory of government, that the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution contains no grant of power, of right of suffrage, but is in the nature of a restriction or abridgment of such power in one respect only, and that is the power to discriminate on account of race, color and previous condition of servitude. It is to enforce that section and prevent such discrimination that by the second section Congress is authorized to enact appropriate laws, and this article contemplates only legislative action and does not apply to individuals. Before the act in question can take effect, it must appear that the State has authorized discrimination prohibited by the amendment, and that such discrimination is attempted to be carried out by an individual. If a State has not violated the article and has passed no law to authorize such discrimination, the unauthorized acts of an individual or a combination of individuals make no case for Federal cognizance. An individual cannot deny or abridge the right to vote in the sense of this amendment. It is a right that can only be given or denied or abridged by law. South Carolina has not violated the amendment. She has passed no act to discriminate on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, but admits citizens of all color, race or condition, who have qualifications as voters, to the full enjoyment of the right of suffrage. But if it be held that it would be appropriate legislation to enforce this amendment against individuals where the State had passed no act then it is contended that the conspiracies charged are not within the jurisdiction of the court, because they are offenses not within the purview of the amendment, nor appropriate legislation to enforce the amendments, and are therefore void. It is then submitted as too clear for argument that within the legitimate sphere of rights reserved to States is included the right of exclusive legislation in the matter of suffrage. The very existence of States depends on it, and they have never surrendered their jurisdiction. It is declared that not a single offence defined in the act in question comes within the provisions of the amendment. When States by amendment surrendered the right to discriminate in the matter of suffrage on the ground of color, race, &c., and authorized Congress to enforce that amendment, they surrendered no other right touching suffrage, and gave Congress no further power on the subject, and hence the enforcement act is not appropriate legislation. The constitutional provision in respect to the right of the people to bear arms contains no grant of power to the Federal Government over the right to keep and bear arms. On the contrary, the established construction is that it only requires a pre-existing right in the people of the states, and is merely a restriction on the Federal Government against any interference with that right, and consequently a subject matter exclusively within the cognizance of the States. As to jurisdiction, it is contended that the jurisdiction attempted to be given by the act over another felony committed in the attempt to do acts prohibited in the case of murder, belongs exclusively to the courts of South Carolina, and that consequently so much of the act is made unconstitutional and void, as an exercise of legislative power not in pursuance of the Constitution.

The case is argued on behalf of the Government by the Attorney General and Assistant Attorney General Hill, and on behalf of the accused by Henry Stanberry and Reverdy Johnson. The argument thus far is on the question of jurisdiction, the Government moving to dismiss. The merits are given, but it is not certain that they will be argued.

CUSTOM HOUSE INVESTIGATION.

The Custom House Investigating Committee resumed the examination of ex-Collector Murphy. Senator Bayard cross-questioned him at length. He recapitulated the circumstances attending his interview with John Bennett, which was brought about by Mr. Bliss. Mr. Bennett told him that the majority of the men in the Gridley organization were placed there by him, and always voted as he directed. Murphy wanted to defeat Horace Greeley as delegate to the State Convention. He gave two hundred dollars at one time and two hundred dollars at another to Bennett, through Bliss, for the purpose of giving a supper to the working people belonging to that organization to keep them from going home.

He asked whether Bennett did not tell him he must have money to get a gang of strangers out of the neighborhood to help defeat Greeley. To which question witness replied that he had no recollection of it. He had never encouraged such appliances.

He was asked other questions relative to plans for defeating Greeley, when witness replied that he left the details to Bliss, and it was his opinion that these questions were manufactured by John V. Gridley.

Senator Bayard remarked that these were facts which may be established by other witnesses.

In reply to a question whether he spent his money for mere personal gratification to defeat Greeley, witness replied in the affirmative, adding "we are all human." Witness had no recollection of large discrepancies between the calculations of the Collector's office and the Naval Officer's office amounting in the aggregate to one million dollars in eight months, as testified to by Laflin. He might have heard of them.

In response to Senator Casserly, witness said he made no appointment at the instance of Senator Conkling. Three hundred removals were made while he was Collector, generally for cause—some for dishonesty and others for inefficiency.

On being asked the grounds on which removals were made where they were not made for cause, witness said if the names of those who were not removed for cause were furnished him he would answer properly. The largest moiety he ever received was $10,000, but could not recall the aggregate amount. He may have received thirty, forty or fifty thousand dollars in moieties.

The question was asked, Do you consider that any man who had relations with Tweed or any others of the Tammany ring was not fit to stay in office and could not be regarded as faithful to the Republican party? Murphy replied that he could respect an outspoken Democrat, but a man professing to be a Republican and acting with the Democratic party was a sneak and traitor, whom he despised. He did not think any man who professed to be a Republican but who obeyed Tweed was fit for office.

Senator Casserly wanted yes or no to his question.

Senator Pratt thought Casserly was too rigid on witness in requiring him to answer yes or no.

The witness should answer in his own way.

Senator Casserly did not think witness should be excused, even if the reins were drawn a little tight.

Senator Bayard remarked when a question was put and a categorical answer was required the witness might say whether he could or not answer it, and then give his reasons.

Murphy then answered Senator Casserly's question in the affirmative. Witness was further examined as to the purchase and sale of property by himself, Tweed, Connoly and Hugh Smith, and on other subjects, when the committee adjourned till to-morrow.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, March 16, 1872.

TO WHOM SHALL THE DEMOCRATS SURRENDER?

When it was rumored that the rebels approached York in 1864, the panic stricken citizens sent the Burgomaster and Council of the ancient borough to surrender in time to save it from destruction. The rumor, however, was premature, and the officials drove seven miles before they found three rebel stragglers with whom to capitulate.

The New Hampshire victory has had the same effect upon the Kuklux Democracy, and the cry is "the Philistines have fallen upon us, let us surrender." The Democratic editors and leaders are rushing wildly about to find that terrible army of brindle tail reform Republicans who are like the milk sickness, always in the next country, but very hard to find. Suppose the Democracy had tried the surrender policy before the election in New Hampshiae to whom could they have surrendered? To the 500 Prohibitionists, or the 500 Labor Performers, or to the invisible hosts of brindle tails? Let them only search diligently and they will find there will be a few rebel stragglers, deserters from the camp, adventurers, and political bummers at Cincinnati who will receive their surrender gracefully. But they ought to remember that the hasty surrender of York did not save its citizens from a very heavy war tribute. I believe $100,000, to the Rebels; and the preliminary surrender to Republican refuse will not save them from capture by the regular Republican army.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS AND GRATZ BROWN NOMINATED.

The New Hampshire victory has filled the souls of the Republican conspirators with terror. Thhe Sun, its ostensible New York organ, says in a three column leader, Davis won't do; neither will Trumbull. Adams and Brown is the ticket. Since Satan called his great council in pandemonium to declare war against the heavenly host, there has not been more intense personal hatred displayed, or a more hopeless contest, undertaken than that of the Republican conspirators against Grant "Anything to beat Grant" is indeed their motto, but the end will be. "I have piped, but ye would not dance."

TRUMBULL ON TRIAL.

The ivelist time of the season came off yesterday in the Senate. Mr. Trumbull having studied for two weeks on the best way of getting up an excuse for taking $10,000 on a contract to act as counsel in the McArdle case hunts up a Michigan paper, the last of a hundred in which the charge against him was published, and uses his place in the Senate to malign correspondents and newspapers who feel it their duty to expose violations of the law by august Senators who arrogate to themselves purity par excellence in the conduct of the civil service. He admits the principal part of the charge—the taking of the money in violation of the statute of April 21st, 1808—but says incorrectly that there is an express exception in that law which authorizes Congressmen to act as counsel for or against the Government. It appears from the opinion of Attorney General Wirt, dated July 18, 1826, that no such exception exists, but there are only two cases excepted—to wit: "contracts with corporations, and purchase of bills of exchange"—and that, with these exceptions alone, contracts in writing or otherwise shall be null and void, and the contractor shall be adjudged guilty of a high misdemeanor and fined $3,000. The fine microscopic point made by Mr. Trumbull that if the law was violated by him, it was also violated by General Grant who at the time was acting Secretary of war ad interim is worthy of a hair splitting lawyer, but no officer from the lowest to the highest would be held morally responsible by any jury of his countrymen, for signing formal letters while temporarily acting in the place of another, specially when he never pretended to be learned in the intricacies of the law. But for the chairman of the Judiciary Committee who talks continually about the corruptions of the administration to take $10,000 of the people's money, in the very face of a plain statute on which the opinion of the highest law officer had made it apply to the case in point, was quite sufficient, when exposed, to recall to his mind the couplet,

"A rogue ne'er felt the halter draw
With good opinion of the law."

UNCONSTITUTIONAL PROSCRIPTION.

In our criminal court Isaac Williams was charged with practicing without a license. In considering the charge, the constitutionality of the charter of the Medical Society of the District was denied by the District Attorney, and doubted by the Judge. This charter requires all persons practicing medicine or surgery in the District to obtain a license from that society. It is an outrage upon the rights of individuals, and of community that any association should arrogate to itself or be empowered with the rights to debar all who do not patronize it, or come under its restrictive rules to be deprived of practicing the profession of medicine, and any such charter ought to be promptly repealed, in order that it shall not exercise proscription over the people of the District.

A PERTINENT QUERY.

It is an interesting question here just now which is most reprehensible, the recomending of 103 Federal appointments, or the expression of a desire to turn one man out of office who, being more earnest than the Senator in reforming the civil service, points out wherein that Senator has violated the law in taking the people's money and thus incurring a penalty of $3,000 for a high misdemeanor.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Ex-Governor Wise, of Virginia, delivered a lecture Wednesday at Lincoln Hall. He was greeted with a fair audience, but some of them went out of curiosity and expected to hear him descant on the political situation. They were disappointed. His subject was, "The Future of the Nation," and he confined himself to pointing out the material advantages possessed by the country, and gave a very interesting discourse, without deviating from the means of our material progress, which requires developement. It appears that he rejoices in the future greatness of the Union.

A dispatch has been received from Minister Schenck stating that he had handed to Earl Granville Secretary Fish's reply to his note, and that it calls upon England to submit to the Geneva tribunal the question whether our claim for indirect damages shall be admitted and discussed by the board.

In the Circuit Court to-day Mrs. R. Barry obtained a verdict of $5,000 against the late corporation of Washington for injuries resulting from falling into an excavation across the street near the Baltimore Railroad Depot.

AGATE.

MEMPHIS.

Railway Decision.

MEMPHIS, March 19.—The Avalanche's Jackson (Miss.) special says the Supreme Court today decided that the payments by railroads to the State during the war in Confederate money were illegal, and the indebtedness must be paid in greenbacks. The roads own a large sum, and this decision will relieve the State financially. The Court also decided that citizens were not responsible for cotton destroyed by order of the Confederate military authorities.

Crushed to Death.

CHICAGO, March 19.—At ten o'clock this morning some workmen were felling a tree at the corner of Wabash avenue and Jackson street, when a man from Toronto, named John McDonald, who persisted in remaining on the street, was crushed into a shapeless mass as the tree descended. Nothing could be ascertained of the deceased save his address. He was about thirty-two years of age, well dressed, and of fine appearance.

—Yesterday morning the Clinton House, the leading hotel of Iowa City, Iowa, caught fire and burned to the ground. All the rooms were occupied and some of the occupants narrowly escaped. But little furniture was saved. Ole Bull's concert troupe was in the house, and Mr. Bull ran into the street in his night clothes, with his fiddle under his arm. Loss about $25,000; insurance $15,000.

—A drunken man, a blacksmith, named Jos. Nelson, living twelve miles north of Sedalia, Mo., shot and killed his wife on Sunday, and then shot himself, inflicting a very dangerous wound. He was arrested and locked up. His wife had been forced to leave him in consequence of cruel treatment, and because she would not return and live with him he shot her.

SECRETARY FISH'S REPLY.

The press of this morning, commenting on the statement made in the House last night by Gladstone relative to the reply of the American Government to Granville's note, generally express the opinion that the communication of the Premier will create disappointment and apprehension throughout the country. The Government is urged to bring the present difficulty with America, arising out of the claims for indirect damages, to an amicable and honorable solution.

THE TREATY OF WASHINGTON.

LONDON, March 19.—In the House of Lords this evening Baron Redesdale said he had no wish to embarrass the Government. He thought rather that an expression of opinion on the part of this House would be useful. He therefore gave notice that he should introduce a resolution declaring that it is to the common interest of all nations to decide whether, where belligerents have been reconciled and became a nation, they can demand as such nation from a neutral State indemnity for damages done by one of the belligerents. Lord Redesdale added that if this resolution was carried, he should move an address to the crown, praying that an international congress be called by Great Britain for the settlement of the question.

The Earl of Derby gave notice that he should ask the Government what course it intended to pursue with regard to the treaty of Washington.

In the House of Commons Disraeli gave notice that he should bring to the consideration of the House the state of the relations with the United States.

Horsman reminded the House that he had already notified the Government of his intention to question it, and he begged for a reply now. Was Gladstone prepared to give Parliament an assurance that in case fresh negotiations were entered on with the American Government, no proposals would be finally accepted until they had received the sanction of Parliament?

Gladstone said he was sorry he was unable to answer the question to-night. He had had no opportunity to give the subject the consideration it demanded, or even to consult with his colleagues.

Horsman intimated that he should repeat the question to-morrow.

EXPENSES OF THE CROWN.

LONDON, March 19.—A remarkable scene occurred in the House of Commons to-night when Sir Charles W. Dilke's resolution to investigate the expenses of the Crown came up.

The Speaker called on Sir Charles for the introduction of a motion of which he had already given notice.

Viscount Bury rose to a question of privilege. As the members of Parliament had taken an oath of allegiance to Queen Victoria and her successors, and as the member from Chelsea had avowed openly that he was a Republican, he wanted to know if, with proper respect for the honor of the Commons, the member could be allowed to proceed without repudiating.

Here Lord Bury was interrupted by cheers and shouts, and there was much confusion on all sides.

The Speaker, as soon as the House was brought to order, said he saw nothing inconsistent with the dignity of the House in allowing the members from Chelsea to proceed. It was no part of his (the Speaker's) duty to interfere.

Sir Charles then rose to put his motion, amid great excitement, and a storm of groans and cheers. In a firm and moderate tone he called attention to the civil list, and then moved for the returns showing the duties of the Auditors, to whom he makes his report, and for copies of such reports for each year since the accession of Victoria, warrants issued by the treasury, with specifications of classes in which savings arose, and to which the accounts of those savings were transferred each year; also returns showing the income and expenditures of the Crown from the Queen's accession to the present year; the amounts charged on the estimates for fees on installations, for robes, collars badges royal presents conveyance of distinguished personages, funerals of the Royal family, expenses of coronation, journeys of the Queen, building and repairing palaces, court ceremonies, allowances to trumpeters, watermen, marshals and chamberlains, and for the services of the Royal yachts for ten years; and, finally, returns of incomes from the duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, and of the total amount paid to the Prince of Wales.

Sir Charles, having succeeded in reading his motion to the end, though frequently interrupted proceeded to support it in a set speech. Derisive laughter was heard in all parts of the House, in the galleries as well as on the floor, during its delivery, and the confusion was at times so great that the voice of the speaker was inaudible. He opened by saying that possibly the motion he offered was unprecedented. It was time, therefore, that a precedent should be established. He would discuss the question of allegiance on some other day. He denounced sinecures and useless offices like that of the Governor of Windsor Castle, and wanted to know on what principle of right Prince Teck and Prince Arthur were allowed to occupy lodges in the public parks. There was once some justification in spending money for royal yachts, for his late Majesty, William IV., was a sailor king. Now we maintained four vessels of this description. For what reason? The abandonment of the antiquated palace of St. James was recommended long ago, Yet thousands were spent thereon annually.

He admitted that he had made a charge that the Queen paid no income tax. This he had since learned was not true. He therefore retracted the charge and acknowledged that he had been misinformed. He concluded by asserting that the civil list showed an increase of £10,000, and the tax payers believed that a large portion of the money was wasted.

Auberon Herbert, the member for Nottingham, seconded the motion.

The House had all the time been noisy and tumultuous.

Gladstone rose when order was resumed, and the members became attentive. Gladstone contradicted positively the statement that the civil list had increased, and corrected Sir Charles sharply on other points. One who assumed to instruct the public, he said, must at least be accurate. He denounced as mischievous the speech made by the member at New Castle, and hinted that the success of his motion would be equal to the success of that speech. In conclusion, Gladstone urged the House on every ground to rejection.

Auberon Herbert endeavored to speak, but his voice was drowned with groans and cries of "O, divide."

The Speaker insisted on the preservation of order, when all the Conservatives and many Liberals left the Chamber. Herbert attempted to continue his speech. He declared he preferred a Republic over a Monarchy. Here interruptions commenced again. Three attempts were made to count out the House.

Lord George Hamilton called attention to the demonstrations of persons in the visitors' and reporters' galleries, in violation of the rules. The galleries were cleared, but were soon afterwards reopened. After several attempts to adjourn, and various dilatory motions, the House divided with the following result: for the motion, 2; against, 274. The result was greeted with cheers and laughter.

MEXICO.

TREVINO'S DEFEAT.

MATAMORAS, March 19.—Particulars of Gen. Trevino's defeat near Balatiess proves more disastrous to the revolutionists than at first reported. While the battle was progressing one thousand men revolted and joined Rocha, which created a panic, resulting in a rout of the revolutionists and the capture of Trevino's main command, with all their material of war. General Cortina attacked the revolutionists near Camargo, defeating them and capturing many horses and men. Gen. Quirogo's posision in Camargo is rendered precarious, Cortina having advanced to Monterey.

FIRE THIS MORNING.

The Empire Oil Works Destroyed.

An alarm of fire was struck this morning at about one o'clock, from box 64, corner Penn avenue and Thirty-third street, caused by an explosion in the Empire Oil Works, on Thirty-third street, and adjoining the A. V. R. R.

The engines of the district were prompt in their response to the alarm, but nothing could be done to save the works, and the attention of the firemen was directed to the saving of adjoining property. The main works and one tank of benzine, were totally destroyed. A number of stills filled with oil were saved. At the time of going to press we could not ascertain the loss.

A Frontier Horror.

The following instance of a terrible result from the passion for drink is given by the La Crosse (Wis.) Republican.

A few years ago a man was living with his young wife in Mankato, Minn. He was intelligent and successful in business until the passion for strong drink enslaved him, and his business and reputation were both wrecked by its satanic influence. He was forced to seek a new home for his little family, and his wife, bred to luxury, accompanied him to the frontier in the hope that the removal from the temptation would free him from the grip of the habit which cursed him. Here they lived for several years, his abstinence from drink being broken only by an infrequent and occasional debauch when he visited some of the nearest towns. Early in December he told his wife that business compelled him to go to———, and that he would be absent several days. She, about to become a mother again, with the three helpless children and a scanty supply of wood, fearing that the insatiate clamor of appetite was the motive which drew him away, entreated him to stay, but in vain. He left.

Soon after, one of those severe storms of December—doubly severe on the unsheltered prairie—came on. Before its close she was entirely destitute of wood, and the terrible alternative was presented to her of passively freezing to death with her little ones, or seeking assistance from the nearest neighbor three miles distant. She courageously chose the latter, and leaving her three shivering little ones with nothing but a mother's yearning love and prayerful blessing, she started out to seek relief. The three children were found dead in the house. This, while the once fond husband and protecting father was reveling in the delirium or dozing in the stupor of drink. No words can add to the horror of this tale, but beside the unspeakable wife and mother, how trivial our common losses, griefs, and sorrows seem!

THE following notice was posted in front of the Erie Opera House:

"Pay no attention to orders from Gould or any of his hirelings."

Underneath it some wag wrote:

"If anybody hauls down this notice shoot him on the spot. JOHN A DIX."

Special Attention

Is called to the following threatening notice, published by the Babcock Fire Extinguisher Company:

"All parties are warned against buying or using fire extinguishers of any kind in which water impregnated with carbonic acid gas is used as the extinguishing element, except those manufactured by our company, on pain of immediate prosecution for infringement."

This idle threat, of two years standing, is only made to intimidate the public from purchasing the Gardner Extinguisher, which is totally different from the Babcock machine, and superior to it in every respect.

The claim set forth in the above extract, to the exclusive use of carbonic acid gas and water, is utterly false, and they dare not bring the matter before the courts. The

GARDNER EXTINGUISHER

Is fully covered by Letters Patent, and this company will guarantee the most ample protection to all purchasers. It has been adopted by the Supervising Inspectors, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, the leading steamboat lines of the country, and by the fire departments of a number of our largest cities, and has saved MILLIONS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF PROPERTY FROM THE FLAMES. Having four times the extinguishing power of other machines, it is naturally superseding the old-fashioned extinguishers, and undoubtedly stands without a rival.

BONDS at Frankfort 96½.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 44¼.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 109⅞@109¾.

IT is very probable that the State Legislature will adjourn on the 4th of next month.

BRIGHAM, in default of golden fruit at Harrisburg, hies to his orange fields in Florida, where warmer suns are more congenial than the New York "Sun."

LORD NORTHBROOK, the successor to the murdered Mayo as Viceroy of India, is to be banqueted in London prior to his departure. Poor fellow, he may as well feed before he dies.

WAS it because he was afraid of the Evans Investigation Committee that the lately appointed Auditor General had to get Rutan, one of his dish-washers, to carry his resignation to Boss Geary, or was he anxious to push on to see Evans about the New York sun article?

THE LATE appointee to the Auditor General office declines the honor conferred on the ground that he could not sacrifice his principles and become one of Governor Geary's household. This is certainly hard on the Governor, as he had the assurance of his man Friday that he would be but too glad to have the office and do his dirty work.

THE NEW YORK World smelleth trouble from afar off, and urges the Democracy to have nothing to do with the forthcoming so-called Liberal party convention at Cincinnati. Can it be possible that the Democrats have reached the jumping-off point and are preparing to leave the Republicans they have seduced from the path of rectitude all alone in their glory? It looks very much as if such is the case. Alas! Poor Schurz, poor Sumner?

EVANS, the swindling State Agent, is under one hundred thousand dollar bonds to appear before the Courts of Harrisburg today. We predict that Mr. Evans will not be on hand, but his counsel, no doubt, will produce sworn affidavits that his health will not permit him to be present. It is strange that Mr. Evans, who was formerly a healthy man, should so suddenly lose his health. Then again it is not strange that a man who has been made the tool of vultures, who are continually boasting of their honesty, and who have their ill-gotten gains invested in railroad bonds, and Southern Plantations, while he himself is still poor, should lose his health. It is enough to make his hair turn white and break down his system. It is well known Evans is poor, and those who have seen him say his hair has turned from black to gray, and yet he is too cowardly to appear before the Investigating Committee and testify. Why not, like Garvey, of New York, come forward, make a clean breast of the whole affair, and make these would-be self-important individuals' dry bones rattle? What a scampering of rats, yes, long-tail rats there would be if Evans would turn up as Garvey did.

GENERAL TORBERT, a citizen of Delaware, and Consul General of the United States at Havana, is greatly censured for his reticence and apparent indifference to the case of Dr. J. E. Howard, an American citizen, who has been imprisoned in Cuba and compelled to submit to all kinds of indignities. The Spanish government claims that he is guilty of the grave charges made against him, and insists upon the justice of the treatment which he has received;- but on the other hand, strenuous demands for interference in the case comes from American residents in Havana, and although Secretary Fish has endeavored to receive information on the subject, it is understood that General Torbert has maintained unbroken silence in regard to it, although the first letter of inquiry to him was sent from the State Department in last December. It will be difficult for the Consul General to explain this silence which has had the effect of deterring our Government from interfering directly in the matter until now, when it is understood to be too late, and the unfortunate, perhaps guilty, Dr. Howard has been transported to a Spanish penal colony on the western coast of Africa, where death almost certainly awaits him from the fatal malaria which prevails thereabouts. In these days of investigation it would be well to find out, even yet, if possible, whether or not Dr. Howard is guilty of any crimes worthy of such severe punishment.

THE IRISH BAR.

It is generally believed that the way of access to the American Bar is rather easy. Many attorneys are admitted to practice law in our courts who are unable to translate the Latin technicalities which are still preserved in "the books." It is true, we demonstrated, during the sitting of the High Commission, that we have as able lawyers as the most distinguished nations of the world can boast of. Indeed, if we are to believe the English newspapers, (and they are certainly competent testimony in such a case) our lawyers are superior to the jurists of England. Still, there is much room for improvement in the matter of training lawyers on this side the Atlantic, as there is, indeed, in the education of gentlemen who intend entering any of the learned professions. In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, it is more difficult to secure admission to the bar, either as a barrister or attorney, than it is in this country. But we are not sure, after all, that the preparatory training is more thorough there than it is here. There are some requirements made of Irish law students, which do not seem to us to be well adapted to furnish them with superior legal qualifications.

Sir Colman O'Loghlen has exhumed a law from the musty statutes enacted during the reign of Henry VIII, which requires attendance at one of the Inns of Court in England as a necessary qualification for admission to the Irish bar. The Irish journals think it is hardly credible that such a statute, passed in 1541, in the thirty-third year of the reign of Henry, should still be in existence, especially as its requirements are of the most absurd character. It is said that all that was required to secure admission to the Irish bar was that the candidate should make a certain number of visits to London, eat a given number of dinners, and pay the specified fees. It is somewhat difficult to see what connection these things have with acquiring the legal lore necessary to qualify a man for pleading the cause of his client in courts of civil or criminal judicature, especially as Temple dinners do not consist exclusively of fish, which, according to Agassiz, is the best brain food in the whole system of dieties.

The statute is so absurd that it is believed Sir Colman will experience no difficulty in having the bill passed which he has introduced into the British Parliament for its repeal, although it is amazingly difficult to get England out of the "ruts" in which she has been running for centuries. The bill, after reciting the act referred to, provides that "the Act passed in the Parliament of Ireland in the 33d year of the reign of King Henry the VIII. above recited, is, and the same is hereby repealed; and after the passing of this act it shall not be necessary to qualify a person to be admitted to the Irish bar that such person shall have kept terms in England, or be a member of any Inn of Court in England."

"MENS SANA IN CORPORE SANO."

Parton, in an article on Jefferson in the Atlantic Monthly, while speaking of the bodily weakness and physical impotence of great students, consequent upon a life of too much study and too little exercise of the limbs, whereby the natural moral stamina, otherwise called "back-bone," is dwarfed, says truly:

"Thus to-day throughout Christendom, Ignorance is master, and Knowledge is its hireling; Ignorance controls capital, and Knowledge lives on wages; Ignorance rides in a carriage and Knowledge trudges on foot; Ignorance edits, and Knowledge writes: the counting room orders, and the sanctum obeys."

The question is often asked, why is it that our great men, our learned men live slovenly, and die poor? How does it come that, particularly in energetic manufacturing towns and cities, the mass of the rich inhabitants are those, who are without education, and who began life poor, who have struggled manfully against fate, and without assistance or advantages except those furnished by a strong will and a tough right arm? The reason in part can, no doubt, be found in the above idea. The active man of the world engages early in the struggle for life, and becomes at once convinced that it will require all his energies and his whole mind and heart to succeed in what he conceives to be an unequal contest. He has no time for dreaming or study, even except what is requisite to carry out successfully his well laid plans. He is active, practical, economical of time and money; he is known as the "soul of energy;" always pushing, driving, scheming and never tires. He succeeds, he grows rich, "he rides in his carriage" after awhile "and knowledge trudges on foot." Truly "Ignorance is master."

On the other hand, the man of brains, of intellect, with a mind fit to grasp and wrestle with the most subtle abstractions, and evolve from the corolla of nature itself, the hidden mysteries of the systems, is too often a sickly, puny stem, unable to face the blast of winter, and without moral force sufficient to withstand the least discouraging opposition. Of what use to him is his knowledge, his massive brain power? The world is not to be baffled, nor success won by thinking only. True, the brain is a necessary auxilary power, but the body must be sound to insure activity, and the necessary energy and moral force to withstand the opposing forces encountered on every hand, in the race of life. Therefore does "Knowledge too often 'trudge on foot' and become the 'hireling of Ignorance.'"

The necessary sequence to this reasoning is, that we must have less knowledge hereafter, or more attention paid to our physical training, if we would desire to have intellect take its proper place at all times. We must cease to dwarf the body in our efforts to expand the mind; we must secure the physical frame in such a state of perfect health, that it will be afterwards able to stand the close application necessary to store the mind with golden treasure.

What a magnificent sight is afforded us, of this country, by the physico-intellectual giants of Prussia and Russia, and indeed, of all continental Europe, we might say? Bismarck's ample and robust frame is only equalled in beauty by his exalted intellect. Such men must come to the surface, no matter how humble their origin, they cannot be kept under; their country needs their services, and happy the country that can claim them. America may find a lesson, long needed, from this example, which is not an isolated one, by any means. Europe has many such.

THE WAR CLAIMS OF PENNSYLVANIA AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

The Legislature passed a joint resolution March 22d, 1867, authorizing the Governor to appoint a special agent to collect these claims, and accordingly on the next day, March 23d, he appointed George O. Evans to attend specially to the adjustment and collection of them.

The subsequent proceedings in this matter may be best exhibited by a statement in the plain form of account of money received and paid by the agent; the items of which are gathered from the Governor's annual message.

As the joint resolution did not specify what compensation should be allowed to the agent for his services, but merely fixed a maximum limit, to be not exceeded, it thus became the duty of the proper authorities of the State to decide what sum he should be allowed. As this has not been done, it is assumed in stating the account, that a compensation equal to the salary of the chief magistrate of the State, will be deemed liberal. If that sum had been named in the resolution, no one would have doubted its sufficiency for securing the services of a competent agent.

In any agency of this character wherein large sums of money are collected, it is unquestionably the duty of the agent to pay over promptly the money he collects, and to render and settle his account as often as once in each year at least. The account is therefore stated in the form of an annual account, balanced at the end of each year, dating from the beginning of the agent's services, in which he is credited with a salary of $5,000 per annum, and charged with interest on all moneys wrongfully withheld by him for his own personal benefit.

* With interest until paid at the rate of $18,882 per annum, or $1,573 per month.

It will be seen that the first money collected by the agent is dated May 2d, 1867, and at the end of his fourth year of services he had collected $321,014.44, all of which he had retained for his own use, not one dollar of it having been paid into the State Treasury.

Why the agent was permitted to withhold such a large sum of money belonging to the State; and why during all this long period of more than four years he was not called upon to render an account of his proceedings is a very serious question, and demands an answer from the State authorities under whose instructions he was serving.

The agent after four years' experience appears to have discovered the plain honest way of conducting the business. During the last three months of his service he collected $678,743.24, and within a few days after each collection, he paid it into the State Treasury where it belonged. It is to be regretted that he did not make this discovery at an earlier period, and have practiced it from the beginning, then the tax payers would not now be required to pay an extra tax of $314,702,52, to make up this defalcation.

The amount of interest which the State Treasury has lost by this delinquency of the agent, is $45,281.86, and if we add the interest which has accrued since he rendered his account, eight months ago, it would now amount to $57,880. This interest which the agent has enjoyed at the expense of the State, would, of itself, make his compensation exceed a salary of thirteen thousand dollars per annum, for the whole period of his four years and four months service.

A singular feature in the agent's account, as stated in the Governor's message, is that of setting down among the claims collected the sum of $1,989,228.32, when in fact, a small amount only of that sum, viz: $78,516.89, was collected. The remainder $1,910,711.43, consisted of claims on the part of the United States against the State, for cash advanced in 1861, and for direct taxes due in 1862, five years before the agent was appointed. And what is more extraordinary is, that this sum of $1,910,711.43, is included in the amount for which a commission of 10 per centum, amounting to $191,071.14, is charged by the agent for his services. The dates of all these items, are of May 2d, 1867, just forty days after the agent was appointed. Here then we have the facts; that the agent coolly claims, and that the Governor complaisantly sanctions the payment of nearly two hundred thousand dollars of the tax-payer's money to the agent for these forty days of his service, being at the rate of more than five thousand dollars per day.

These facts may appear less strange, when viewed in connection with other facts not stated in the last message of the Governor, viz: that the agent was selected and appointed within twenty-four hours after the passage of the joint resolution; and also, that said agent paid another agent five thousand dollars for drawing up and securing the passage of that resolution.

MATTERS OF MOMENT.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: "We devote ourselves to telling the truth as far as we are able to understand it." Judging by the contents of the C.-J. by the time it gets here we are forced to believe that it is not able to understand it as far as Pittsburgh.

SOME Swiss engineers are about to build a railway to the summit of Mount Vesuvius, thus we see that in two or three thousand years, when the excavators are at work thereabouts, they will find a train of cars, and know that such things were in use by the remote antiquities who were so unfortunate as to live in the XIX. century.

THE Chicago Evening Post claims that most of the paragraphs floating about the newspapers come from it. We should not be surprised if this were so as we are frequently mortified to see some of our own paragraphs credited in other papers to the Evening Post. If that paper does not like to have so many credited to it, it has only to credit its clippings and the other papers will willingly copy the credit as well as the paragraphs.

THE Japanese, like Mrs. Florence's old song—go bobbin' around, picking up ideas, buying up patent rights and filling their wonderfully retentive minds with useful ideas which they will turn to practical account hereafter. Japan is going to be a great market for American goods, and if these ambassadors don't have the advantages of Pittsburgh explained to them they will think some other town is the best place to buy Pittsburgh wares.

WE feel inclined to ask if there may not be such a thing as too much liberality in regard to religion. Here, for instance, is a paper called the Free Methodist which has actually professed its inclination to believe that possibly some men may have lived, who used tobacco and yet were not debarred from Heaven. There has been a good deal of discussion about it, but we feel inclined, in spite of its liberality, to agree with the Free Methodist in believing that smoking is not the unpardonable sin.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal is very savage toward any man who writes his name in the middle—as, for instance, S. Winchester Spriggs, or J. Smith Jones. The reason of this savageness is supposed to be that that paper would dearly love to call itself the L. Courier Journal, but is prevented by the conviction that a vast majority of the people who saw it would naturally suppose the L. stood for ludicrous; and as it can't follow its bent, it attacks the more fortunate creatures who can.

THEY have girl boot-blacks in Boston. The Suffrage Association here has probably not yet heard of this new instance of girls getting their rights, as it has not jubilated about it. It is sad to think that Germany should be so far ahead of free and enlightened America in this matter, but it is an undoubted fact that women are there permitted to follow the callings of coal heavers and wood sawyers. In this benighted country, however, we have actually known a tyrant male specimen of humanity to allow his unjust prejudice to carry him so far that he would rather black his own boots or wear them dirty than let a woman polish them.

The Wisdom at Harrisburg.

Were you ever at Harrisburg, Messrs. Editors of the GAZETTE? If you have been, then I suppose that like the hasheesh eaters you have felt your heads expanding to a size so vast that it appeared infinite, as they took in the wisdom of that city. Phil. Doddrige, so eminent for his extensive knowledge, when asked by a friend how he came to know so much, and who was never seen with a book in his hand, answered, that he took knowledge in by absorption. So you must have absorbed it when at Harrisburg.

I experienced some of this expansion, when reading in your paper on Friday last, that Senator Wallace had moved amendments to the Constitutional Convention bill, forbidding the Convention to change "the declaration of rights" in our present Constitution, and that it should not establish courts with exclusive equity jurisprudence, and that both these amendments were adopted.

A Constitutional Convention restrained in the exercise of its powers by an enactment of the legislature!!

That is decidedly rich. L. B.

Postoffice Department—Notice.

THE following circular has been issued by the Postoffice Department, at Washington:

Owing to the rapid increase in the mails and the establishment of many new Postoffices throughout the country, the Department finds it necessary, in order to facilitate the distribution and to secure a speedy transmission of the heavy mails now passing over the trunk lines of railroads, to request of the public, that in all cases the name of the County, as well as the Postoffice and State, be superscribed upon letters, circulars, newspapers, and other matter to be forwarded by mail.

Postmasters will place this circular in a conspicuous place in their offices and use every endeavor to urge upon the public the importance of this matter.

J. A. J. CRESWELL,
Postmaster General.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1, 1872.

THE Chicago Tribune says: A few of our States make days of election legal holidays. Their example might be followed to advantage by all. Such a custom would distinguish the day and tend to dignify the use of the ballot. Very many men cannot take the time to vote, under the present system. A large proportion of day-laborers, clerks, etc., scarcely ever have a chance to exercise their political rights. If there were but one election each year, and that were a holiday, a far larger vote would be polled, and so the will of the people would be more fully and clearly known. We are in no danger of going back to the days of mediæval Catholicism, when, on an average, there were but two working days in a week; and an increase in the number of our holidays would be a positive benefit, on the score of public health alone.

A WRITER in the English Mechanic exults greatly on account of the success of a device put into practice by him for preventing cats from coming over the fence into his yard. This consists in nailing down horizontally along the top of the fence a piece of wire gauze or netting, having a coarse mesh, and projecting about two feet on each side. The netting will bend slightly downward by its own weight, and while it does not exclude the light or rain from the garden, will resist the most persevering efforts of any cat to surmount it.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

THINK ABOUT THE GARDEN NOW.

How often have we commended to those having sufficient ground for a garden, and especially farmers, to pay increased attention to this important appendage of family comfort. Farmers, as a rule, are entirely too careless about it, their whole minds being placed upon their fields, crops, stocks, &c. The women would in most cases be competent and gladly willing to take charge of a large portion of the labor necessary to the proper cultivation of the garden, if the men would prepare the ground to their hands. Indeed, it is a fact that those who pursue the cultivation of the soil as their business, rarely enjoy garden products to perfection, just because they appear to insist upon the error that they don't pay.

Now is the time to think about how the garden can be enlarged and the number and quantity of the crops increased. The stuff can also be got ready for the additional fence, and the fence itself erected as soon as the weather will permit.

The little hot-beds in which to raise your tomato, cabbage and egg plants, should now be repaired and got ready for sowing the seed as soon as the time arrives. One thing must be remembered that there should be no sparing of the underlying stratum of horse-manure in preparing the beds.

PREPARING FOR A NEW PLACE.

Almost universally it is the practice of those who are about to build and create a new place, to first call an architect, and permit him to locate the house. It is a great error, in fact one of the greatest errors that can be committed in the formation of a home. The true course is first to prepare the ground plan of your house. Satisfy yourself that so many rooms must be had, but perhaps just now only two out of three are really needed, and the balance, while designed in the plan and architectural structure, may be left unfinished for, say four to six years. The next thing is to secure the services of an educated landscape gardener, and taking him and the proposed architect go upon the lot or tract, see to the elevation, study with the landscape gardener the daily wants and uses of the place, see to its bleak points, for often the best rooms of the architect open on to the bleakest, most unsightly points, take into account its keeping and usefulness when created, estimate carefully its running expenses to keep it in order, and then see to the location of the building so that it can have a back ground, and that its best and most homelike daily living rooms command the views most pleasing. See to the elevation of the building, for as a rule one foot to a hundred is about the point at which the ground, or base rubble stone wall should rise from the street. Study well the location of barn and other small out-buildings, they should never be conspicuous, as many a cockney now has them upon the principal streets of many of our cities, but they should always be subservient and yet conveniently useful to the immediate call of the house. If your location is in the country where water must come from deep springs, this point must be carefully studied, for whatever may be said of cisterns they are unreliable in seasons of drouth like the past two years.

CLOVER AS A SHADE.

There is probably no other plant in the world of such value to the farmers for this purpose. It furnishes the most perfect protection to the soil during the fierce dry heats of the summer. Being a constantly deciduous plant, its leaves are perpetually falling and soon form a delicate covering for shade, and easily penetrated at all points by the air, which is the great carrier to the wornout soil of those atmospheric elements that are to enrich it. In this way the clover plant not only contributes directly to the fertilizing of the soil by giving its own substance to it, but it furnishes a protective covering to the entire ground, which encourages and stimulates those chemical processes by which the hungry and exhausted soil is recuperated from the vast supplies of nutriment that are held in the atmosphere. It becomes to the farmer the most valuable fertilizer in the world, as it imparts fertility to the entire soil.

PARSLEY FOR SHEEP.

A correspondent of the Toronto Globe reports a farmer as saying:

I sow parsley all through my grass land, and never lay down any land to clover in the spring, but I sow parsley with it. It is the best food for sheep there is, keeps them healthy, and fattens them with wonderful rapidity. Of course I don't sow enough to smother the grass; but I take care there is some all through it, and the sheep will find it out, and never leave a bit of it if they can help it. The cows and cattle are also very fond of it, but it is the fittest for sheep, as it does them the most good. The only thing to be guarded against is to keep the breeding ewes from getting too much. They fatten so fast that it stops their breeding, which is of course a loss. But I am careful to keep the breeding ewes off it as much as I can. It does well for lambs, however, and for wethers and fattening ewes nothing is equal to it. I find that it does better than grain. It also produces heavy fleeces of wool.

BONE MEAL FOR SHRUBS.

An old writer in the London, England, Gardener's Chronicle, tells of the value of bone meal as a manurial, or life-supporting, agent in connection with all flowering shrubs. According to the record then, all flowering shrubs, when planted out and given a pint of bone meal, mingled with the soil immediately among the roots, gave a growth of more than double of those in good, ordinary ground, while the blooms were much more brilliant and continued longer in perfection. Let our amateurs study this item.

TO PICKLE MEAT IN ONE DAY.

Get a tub nearly full of rain or river water, and put two pieces of thin wood across it, and set the beef on them at about the distance of an inch from the water. Heap as much salt as will stand on the beef, and let it remain twenty-four hours; then take the meat off and boil it, and you will find it as salt as if it had been in pickle for weeks—the water having drawn the salt completely through the beef.

Mark Twain as Editor-in-Chief.

Mark Twain, in his new volume, "Roughing It," gives his experience as local editor of the Virginia City (Nevada) Daily Enterprise, and incidentally credits the "leading writer" of a daily journal in a manner as rare as it usually is deserved. In the case mentioned Mark had tired of his labor as local editor. He says:

I wanted variety of some kind. It came. Mr. Goodman went away for a week and left me the post of chief editor. It destroyed me. The first day I wrote my leader in the forenoon. The second day I had no subject, and put it off till the afternoon. The third day I put it off till evening, and then copied an elaborate editorial out of the American Cyclopedia, that steadfast friend of the editor all over the land. The fourth day I "fooled around" till midnight and then fell back on the Cyclopedia again. The fifth day I cudgeled my brain till midnight, and then kept the press waiting while I penned some bitter personalities on six different people. The sixth day I labored in anguish till far into the night and brought forth—nothing. The paper went to press without an editorial. The seventh day I resigned. On the eighth, Mr. Goodman returned and found six duels on his hands—my personalities had borne fruit. Nobody, except he has tried it, knows what it is to be an editor. It is easy to scribble local rubbish, with the facts all before you; it is easy to clip selections from other papers; it is easy to string out a correspondence from any local locality; but it is an unspeakable hardship to write editorials. Subjects are the troubles—the dreary lack of them, I mean. Every day it is a drag, drag, drag—think and worry and suffer—all the world is a dull blank, and yet the editorial column must be filled. Only give the editor a subject and his work is done—it is no trouble to write it up; but fancy how you would feel if you had to pump your brains dry every day in the week, fifty-two weeks in the year. It makes one low-spirited simply to think of it. The matter that each editor of a daily paper in America writes in the course of a year would fill from four to eight bulky volumes like this book. Fancy what a library an editor's work would make after twenty or thirty years' service. Yet people often marvel that Dickens, Scott, Bulwer, Dumas, &c., have been able to produce so many books. If these authors had wrought as voluminously as newspaper editors do, the result would be something to wonder at, indeed. How editors can continue this tremendous labor, this exhausting consumption of brain fiber, (for their work is creative, and not a mere mechanical laying up of facts, like reporting,) day after day and year after year, is incomprehensible. Preachers take two months holiday in midsummer, for they find that to produce two sermons a week is wearing in the long run. In truth it must be so; and, therefore, how an editor can take from ten to twenty texts and build upon them from ten to twenty painstaking editorials a week, and keep it up all the year round, is further beyond comprehension than ever. Ever since I survived my week as editor, I have found at least one pleasure in any newspaper that comes to my hand: it is in admiring the long columns of editorials, and wondering to myself how in the mischief he did it.

Lincoln's Dream.

The President remarked that the news would come soon and come favorably, he had no doubt, for he had last night his usual dream which had preceded nearly every important event of the war. I inquired the particulars of this remarkable dream. He said it was in my department—it related to the water; that he seemed to be in a singular and indescribable vessel, but always the same, and that he was moving with great rapidity toward a dark and indefinite shore; that he had had this singular dream preceding the firing on Sumpter, the battles of Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, Stone River, Vicksburg, Wilmington, etc. Gen. Grant remarked, with some emphasis and asperity, that Stone River was no victory—that a few such victories would have ruined the country, and he knew of no important results from it. The President said that perhaps he should not altogether agree with him, but whatever might be the facts, his singular dream preceded that fight. Victory did not always follow his dream, but the event and results were important. He had no doubt that a battle had taken place or was about being fought, "and Johnston will be beaten, for I had this strange dream again last night. It must relate to Sherman; my thoughts are in that direction, and I know of no other very important event which is likely just now to occur."

Great events did indeed follow. Within a few hours the good and gentle as well as truly great man who narrated his dream was assassinated, and the murder which closed forever his earthly career affected for years, and perhaps forever, the welfare of his country.—"Lincoln and Johnson," by Gideon Welles, in April Galaxy.

A Sickening Tragedy.

On Friday, the 1st inst. Mrs. Sarah Meyers, wife of Theodore Meyers, living at Brown's Mill on Bennett's Branch, about six miles up from Driftwood, killed her infant son aged nine months by roasting and boiling him alive. It appears that on Friday Mrs. Meyers went out to one of her neighbors and on returning to the house she picked up the youngest child and put him on the hot stove, after holding him there a moment she took him up and put him into a large dish of boiling apple sauce, crowded the babe down into the dish and held him there, she then turned the child over and pushed him into the boiling sauce again thus boiling him on both sides. The other children scared by the screams of their little brother, ran to the mill and told the men at work there what their mother was doing, and they hurried to the house as fast as possible, but not in time to save the life of the child. It had been literally roasted and boiled alive before medical aid could be obtained. It is alleged that Mrs. Meyers is subject to fits of insanity, and that it was while she was in one of these fits that she committed this unnatural and horrible deed. We have not heard that any inquest has yet been held or arrest made. The authorities should investigate the affair at once. —Cameron Herald.

ATMOSPHERIC POISON.
The spring sun calls up something beside the flowers and grasses. It evolves from the damp earth, turbid rivers, stagnant pools and black morasses, the gaseous provocatives of disease. From the offal and garbage of unclean cities, too, it exhales an effluvia destructive of health and vigor. Periodic fevers of various types are now raging with unusual virulence in various parts of the country, and there are complaints from all quarters of a singularly unhealthy spring. What is to be done in this emergency? The answer is simple and to the point. Strengthen the body. Weakness predisposes the system to disease. Commence at once a course of the most genial of tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Be assured that the germs of epidemic and endemic fevers will never infect the physique that has been fortified and regulated with this glorious vegetable restorative. A moist atmosphere aggravates dyspepsia, and all diseases of a bilious type, and the sudden thermometrical changes common at this season, are a severe trial even to strong constitutions. There is but one way of combatting these deleterious agencies, and that is by invigorating the body and imparting a healthy activity to all its functions. The only specific required for this purpose is Hostetter's Bitters. Of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, it is the purest and the best. Its medicinal ingredients include all the juices and extracts of the most approved tonic, antibilious and antiseptic products of the Botanic Kingdom, and they are combined with a stimulant far superior in quality to the alcohol used in preparing the tinctures and extracts of the "regular" pharmacopeia.

Ayer's Hair Vigor
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
To Its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes it to fall off prematurely and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of women and men. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair it has no superior.

CHICAGO AND WHEELING
ADDITIONAL TESTIMONY
OF THE
Excellent Qualities
OF THE
BURKE & BARNES'
Fire Proof Safes.
CHICAGO, January 25, 1872.
Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.:
GENTS—One of your No. 8 Safes, purchased by us a few years since of Messrs. Hall, Kimbark & Co., was in our store during the great fire of October 8 and 9, 1871. We think our books and papers were preserved as well, and perhaps better, than the average of books held in safes of other manufacture.
Yours Respectfully,
S. J. SURDAM & CO.
OFFICE OF COOLEY & DWIGHT,
Commission Merchants,
No. 58 S. Canal street,
CHICAGO, November 1, 1871.
Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.:
GENTS—We take pleasure in adding our testimony to the valuable fire-proof qualities of your Safes. We had used one (No. 10) about seven years, and during the recent disastrous conflagration in our city, it contained our books, papers, and a large amount of money and valuable collaterals, which we found, upon opening, in a very good state of preservation. The damage to our papers was but trifling. The binding of our books, in most cases, broke off when removed, but several of them have been rebound and are now in daily use. The currency and vouchers in the small wooden drawers were scarcely injured, and we had no difficulty in using them. Our office was located in the Chamber of Commerce, one of the largest buildings burned, and owing to the intensity of the heat, and all supply of water being cut off, by the destruction of the City Water Works, we were obliged to defer removing it from the ruins for three days, and then it was taken from a deep bed of burning material. We deem the trial sufficient to satisfy any one in regard to its fire-proof qualities.
Respectfully, Yours,
COOLEY & DWIGHT.

Gold weak, opening at 110 and closing at 109⅞@109⅞. Loans from flat to 6 per cent. for carrying. Clearings $25,750,000. Governments quiet and a fraction lower, in sympathy with gold. Stocks opened steady, with Erie again the principal feature; opening at 49, and by noon reached 51. PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 19, 1872.

Crude has taken the back track again; it was offered, early in the day, at $3,45; subsequently at $3,40, and that, too, without finding buyers. Refined—last half of March, buyer's option or seller until April 15th, 21 cts; this is the only quotation we have. No sales reported. Philadelphia circulars, under date of 16th, report stocks in warehouses at 52,300 bbls; to go on board, 14,366; excess of stock, 37,934 bbls.

The New York Shipping List says: Oil Creek proposes to elude the grasp of speculators, who have formed a conspiracy to forward all the crude oil of that region to Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and to charge enormous freights therefor, by carrying out a plan to lay pipes between Oil Creek and the latter named place and to Lake Erie, and to keep the oil on tap at each of these points, leaving the speculators out of the question. It is thought the construction of these immense oil conduits will be of great benefit to the region especially interested.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, March 19, 1872.

ASHES—Commod Soda Ash, 7; refined, 8; Nitrate Soda, 5¼; Pots, 10; Pearls, 11.

APPLE BUTTER—May be quoted at 55@65 for common to medium and 70@75 for prime to choice.

APPLES—Are in fair supply and rather slow though prices are maintained, ranging from $3,50 to $4,50 ₩ bbl for common to good and $5 for prime.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for the better grades and prices are still maintained; 25@28 for medium to good; 30 for prime and 1@2 cts more for strictly choice and but little of this kind in market.

BEANS—In light supply and prime to choice navy may be quoted in small lots at $2,50@2,75 ₩ bushel.

BROOM CORN—Is quiet and unchanged; sale one car good at 8 cts—the first sale of a car load we have had to record for some time.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is quoted steady at 4½ cts ₩ ℔, and $8,50 ₩ bbl.

CRANBERRIES—Sales at from $12 to $16 ₩ bbl, according to quality.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and unchanged; quoted at 20 cts by the car load and 2@3 cts additional for small lots.

COUNTRY LARD—Sales at 8@9 cts, according to quality.

CHEESE—The supply in this market is very much reduced but the inquiry is light and dealers do not want much stock at the prices; we continue to quote Goshen at 19@20 and Factory at 17@18. As noted the other day, the bulk of the cheese is held by a few New Yorkers, who have been engaged in "bulling" the market, and as it cannot be exported it is not likely that present prices will be sustained any length of time.

CANNED GOODS—Reported firm with an improved demand though prices are not quotably higher; Peaches (3 ℔ cans) $6@7 per case, as to quality; Tomatoes, $4,50@5; Corn, $5@6,50@7. Some dealers are asking $7 for Winslow's while others are selling at $6,50.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches quiet and unchanged; halves, 9@9½ to the trade and 10@10½ for small lots, according to quality. Small sales of mixed stock at 8@8½ and quarters at 7@7½. Apples coming in freely and easier; sales at 7@8 for fair to prime and 8½ for choice.

EGGS—The market was rather firmer to-day, the near approach of Easter causing holders to feel rather "bullish;" 20 cts may be regarded as the ruling quotation, some asking 21 and 22, but there was no difficulty in buying at 20. On Monday there were several sales at 18.

FLOUR—Our market continues quiet and rather weak though prices are unchanged. We continue to quote, in a jobbing way, at $7,40@7,60 for fair to good spring wheat $7,75@7,80 for choice do; $7,50@7,75 for fair to good red winter wheat and $7,90@8 for choice. Rye Flour, $5,50.

FISH—Mackerel—No. 1 Shore, $19; No. 1 Bay, $16; No. 2 Shore, $14,50; No. 2 Bay, $13; No. 3 Lge, $9. In half barrels, quarters and kitts the usual difference of 32 cts ₩ package. Lake and White Fish, $6,25, Lake Herring $3,25, in hf bbls. Cod Fish—Georgia Bank, 6½@7; Grand Bank, 6@6½.

GRAIN—The operations in all kinds of grain continue light, and the markets are dull, though there are but few changes to make in quotations. Red Wheat is quoted at $1,58@1,60, but prime would probably bring 1@2 cts more; however, the demand is rather light, as the mills are pretty well stocked. Oats quiet and unchanged; sales, by the car, at 47@48 for mixed to white—occasional sales at 50, sacked and delivered, equal to two cents ₩ bushel. There is no movement in Corn, except in a jobbing way; we continue to quote at 58@60 for round lots, and but little doing. Rye is unchanged at 97@98—a round lot would probably bring $1. Barley is still quoted at 75@80 for spring, and 80@85 for fall.

GROCERIES—Coffee continues weak, and the statement of a cotemporary about an advance of half a cent, gold, was without foundation in fact; there has been a decline of 2@3 cts within the past two weeks, and the indications, at this writing, are that the bottom has not yet been reached; and, while conceding this, some dealers are impressed with the belief that prices will rule higher in April than they are now, as they expect that, once the bottom has been reached, an active demand will set in, and that a reaction in prices will, in consequence, be the result. Sugars are scarcely as strong as they were last week, and the recent advance in refined goods is scarcely maintained. Rice is firm east, but unchanged here. Molasses and Syrups, steady but unchanged.

COFFEE.—Rio—Choice, 25; Prime, 24; Good, 23½; Fair, 23. Java, 28. Roasted, pure, 28; lower grades, 27@27½.

RAW SUGARS.—Choice New Orleans, 11@11¼; Prime, 10¾; Good, 10; Fair, 9¼. Choice Porto Rico, 10¼; Prime, 10¼. Demerara—Choice, 11¾; Good, 11¼.

REFINED SUGARS.—Standard Hards, 13; do A., 12¼; do B., 12¼; do Ex. C., 12; do C., 11¾; do C. Yellow, 11¾. Chesapeake do Ex. C., 11¾.

NEW ORLEANS MOLASSES.—Choice, 70; Prime, 68; Good, 65; Fair, 60.

SYRUPS.—Fancy White Drips, 75; White Honey, 65; Havemeyer & Elder's, 65@67; other grades, from 40@60.

RICE.—Carolina—Choice, 9½; Prime, 9¼; Good, 9. Rangoon, 8@8¼. Patna, 8¼@8.

SPICES.—Grain Pepper, 22; do Pimento, 16; Cassia, 50; Cloves, 20; Nutmegs, $1,30.

HAY—There is rather more inquiry, and prices are a shade better; we are reported sales of baled at $23@25 ₩ ton.

OILS—No. 1 Extra Lard Oil is quoted, in a jobbing way, at 85@87, and No. 2 at 63@65. Linseed Oil, 90@92.

ONIONS—We can report a fair jobbing trade at $2,50@3,00 ₩ bbl.

PEA NUTS—Sales at 8½@9 cts ₩ ℔.

POTATOES—Are coming in more freely and stocks are accumulating somewhat; prices, however, are unchanged. Sales of small lots at 75@80 cts ₩ bushel, the outside figure for prime Peach Blows.

PROVISIONS—Plain shoulders, 6½ cts; sugar cured do, 8 cts; ribbed sides, 7¾ cts; short rib, 8¼ cts; clear, 8¾ cts; sugar cured hams, 12. Breakfast Bacon, 10½@11. Ham sausage, 10; Dried Beef, 17 cts. Lard: In tierces, 9½. Mess Pork, $14.

RAGS—Sales at 4@4¼ cts ₩ ℔.

SALT—Quiet and unchanged; $1,85 ₩ bbl, by the car load, and $2 in a jobbing way.

SEEDS—Clover Seed continues very dull, and, with continued liberal arrivals, stocks are accumulating and prices weakening; we now quote at $5,50@5,75, in a jobbing way. Timothy Seed is quotable at $3,00@3,25. Flaxseed unchanged at $1,80@1,85.

TALLOW—Rough, 8¼@9 cts ₩ ℔.

Iron Markets.

PHILADELPHIA.—(From the circular of Edward Samuel.) No large sales of pig have been reported for the past week, excepting a transaction in Eglinton Scotch pig, on private terms. Importers are asking $44 for future shipment of Eglinton to this port, an advance over last week's figures. Old rails are held firmly at quoted prices, and from the great scarcity on the other side, further advances are expected. New rails, both American and foreign, are firm at the figures named, which, indeed, are somewhat lower than the manufacturers views, many mills refusing to book orders at less than $81@82. There has been no change in merchant bars since last week's review.

Below are the closing prices of the past week:

American No. 1 Foundry Pig, at furnace	$43@44
" No. 2 "	41@42
" No. 3 Forge Pig, "	40@41
" No. 4, White & Mottled "	37@39

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point with 4 feet 10 inches in the channel last evening. Weather continues very changeable and stormy—wind blew a perfect hurricane at times during Monday night.

There have been no arrivals since the date of our last report except the Monongahela river packets, and the Julia No. 2 for Zanesville was the only departure.

The Wm. Stone and tow was at Marietta and the Fearless at Huntingdon, yesterday forenoon, waiting for the wind to subside.

The Samson No. 2 with two model barges of iron ore, six empty barges and a french-creek, arrived.

During the wind storm on Monday night the stern line of the new steamer Exporter parted, and she was blown around with considerable force against Capt. Stockdale's new boat, but fortunately no serious damage was done to either boat.

The Juniata, Capt. C. L. Brennan, will depart for Cincinnati to-day without fail. She is a commodious side-wheeler and offers superior inducements to passengers, and her officers are experienced and courteous gentlemen. Besides she is no adventurer but a permanent fixture in the trade, and as such deserves, as she receives, a liberal patronage from Pittsburgh shippers.

The West Virginia, Capt. Peter Donaldson, from Morgantown arrived and departed. She leaves the wharfboat every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 3 p. m.

The E. H. Durfee, Capt. Wm. Coulson, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and Missouri river. Persons having business with the Durfee will fine in Capt. Chambers, the clerk, the right man in the right place.

The E. R. Hudson departed for Cincinnati sometime during Monday night or early yesterday morning.

—The following case is reported in the Fifth District Court, New Orleans: J. Shawhan vs. Mississippi Steamship Company.—Plaintiff shipped a mare on one steamboat. He provided a coop or stall to put her in, and also ropes and a halter to make her fast. The stall was placed near the hatchway, which was left open. The mare was frightened, broke loose, fell down the hatchway and broke her neck. The defendants claim that as the plaintiff himself furnished the fastenings and stall they were not responsible. The plaintiff claimed that it was the improper position the stall was placed in the direct cause of the accident. The Court held that the defense was a good one, because the stall was placed in such close proximity to the hatchway that when the mare broke out of the stall she fell into the hatchway, and, therefore, it was an improper place for the defendants to have placed the stall.

—The Collier, with a tow of pig iron for Pittsburgh, was past due here last night. She commenced loading at Pittsburgh in May last, but for want of water was unable to leave that port till the 19th of November. She grounded at Glass House, three miles below, and after getting off laid up at Brunot's till the 3d day of January 1872; reached Cairo January 16; laid there till February 24, on account of ice, and reached St. Louis on the 28th. She left St. Louis on the 9th of March, and expects to be able to reach Pittsburgh before her first bills of lading are a year old. One round trip in a year is rather light work for one steamer.—Louisville Courier 18th.

—The Thompson Dean has created a sensation at St. Louis. It was expected that she would be thronged with visitors yesterday. The story comes to us from the St. Louis Democrat that the Grand Duke's party, through Catacazy, prior to engaging the Great Republic, had consulted Commodore Dean in reference to chartering the steamer bearing his name.

—John Meek, of Catlettsburg; Hi Davis, of Ashland, and H. Newman, of Ironton, some time since bought the hull of a steamer, and now have her partly finished at a cost of fifteen thousand dollars. She will tow barges between Ironton to St. Louis.

—It is reported that the cause of the Gov. Allen being tied to the bank at New Orleans, with a red flag floating over her, was on account of her opposition to the R. E. Lee in the New Orleans and Vicksburg cotton trade. It all came of carrying cotton at 50 cents ₩ bale.

—Capt. Hutchinson has put white collars around the John Kyle's chimneys. This is the first regular St. Louis and New Orleans steamer furnished with these noted and distinctive circles of white paint.

—The general apprehension of a great flood in the Mississippi has reached New Orleans, and the authorities are looking out in time to avoid the consequences.

—The Evansville Journal says that "negotiations are pending for the purchase of a one-half interest in the Kate Kinney, by parties in this city."

—Boats are sometimes detained in the Louisville Canal on account of the draw of the bridge being closed when a train is due.

—The Valid left Cincinnati for Wheeling, on Saturday evening, with three barges ore. Pilots, Nick Whitten and Theo. Davis.

—A boat containing 15,000 bushels of coal, sunk by the Webster, ninety miles below Louisville, has been raised.

—The Idlewild abandons her trip to Memphis from Evansville, the blockade at Cairo having been relieved.

—Baldy Smith, an old St. Louis and New Orleans pilot, died at St. Louis on Monday, aged 60 years.

—The Mollie Ebert henceforth, we it stated, is to be a Pittsburgh and St. Louis packet.

—The Nellie Peck is advertised to leave Sioux City for Fort Benton April 1st.

—The W. Cowan is en route from St. Louis with 2,300 tons ore.

—The Tom Hackney is going to Madison to be remodeled.

DR. A. SLEE, No. 264 PENN STREET.—Longer in the practice of Special and Chronic Diseases than any physician in the city so advertising. All forms of venereal diseases cured in the most thorough and satisfactory manner. Spermatorrhœa or nervous debility, producing blotches, debility, dizziness, nervousness, dimness of sight, noises in the head, indigestion, despondency, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, and which unfit the victim for business or marriage, and ultimately causing consumption and insanity, are permanently cured.

Long standing constitutional diseases skillfully treated, and the effects of mercury completely eradicated.

The Doctor gives particular attention to female complaints, Sterility, Amenorrhœa, Menorrhœa, Dysmenorrhœa, and all irregularities giving annoyance and trouble. A medical pamphlet is published in plain language on venereal diseases sent by mail for two stamps. Correspondence strictly confidential. Hours—9 A. M. to 8 P. M., Sundays excepted. MARCH IS A HARD MONTH ON CONSUMPTIVES.

Consumption — SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY IS THE REMEDY. — Can be cured

Thirty years' experience, and the great amount of testimony from all parts of the world, has proven DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY a specific in curing coughs, hoarseness, sore throat, bronchitis, weak breast, disordered liver, night sweats, palpitation or disease of the heart and diseased lungs, even after they had become very much disordered. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia. Sold by McCLARRAN & McKENNAN, Druggists, 85 Market street, and opposite P. O., Pittsburgh, and all leading Druggists everywhere. mh4-MWF

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS.—These invaluable Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions from whatever cause. To MARRIED LADIES they are particularly suited. They will in a short time bring on regularity, and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pains in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, they will effect a cure when all other means have failed. The circulars around each package give full directions and advice, or will be sent free to all writing for them, sealed from observation.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—It is the fate of every valuable medicine to be COUNTERFEITED. Job Moses' Sir James Clarke's Female Pills are extensively COUNTERFEITED. The genuine have the name of "JOB MOSES" on each package. All others are worthless. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits.

N. B.—In all cases where the GENUINE cannot be obtained, One Dollar enclosed to the Sole Proprietor, JOB MOSES, 18 Cortland street, New York, will insure a bottle of the genuine, containing Fifty Pills, by return mail, SECURELY SEALED from any knowledge of its contents. ja4:v17-cow-W

The worst cases of Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, or that annoying complaint, Itching Piles, yield to its wonderful all-healing qualities. "An Honest Man is the Noblest Work of God."—We were forcibly reminded of this expression by hearing of the death of William Dickson near Noblestown, who died on Tuesday morning in the 82nd year of his age. For more than half a century the phrase "As honest as Billy Dickson" has been a house-hold word in the neighborhood in which he lived. For more than half a century he has been a subscriber to the Pittsburgh GAZETTE. For more than half a century he has been a ruling elder in the Associate (now U. P.) congregation of Noblestown.

He died the death of the righteous, and his last end was like his.

Inventions.

No invention of modern times has met with such universal approbation, and has proved such an economiser of patience, money and simplicity as the Anderson Sash Balance. It can be attached to any window frame at a small expense, and when it is desired to use the balance, in new words its price can be saved in the fact that its boxing is required for the window frame.

Fire Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon, about half past three o'clock, several children were playing with matches in a shed attached to a two story frame dwelling on Ohio street, near Sherman avenue, when they succeeded in setting fire to the shed. The flames communicated to the main building, and for a time its destruction was imminent. The Fire Department, however, arrived in time, and the flames were extinguished. The house was occupied by Andrew Forbes, and owned by Robert Watson. Loss about $250.

Police Officer Injured.

Between ten and eleven o'clock, Monday night, while patrolling his Federal street beat, noticed that the door of Dyer's grocery store was standing open, and the gas turned down. He entered, to make an investigation, and stumbled over a hand truck near the door. In falling he struck his face against the sharp edge of the truck, by which the flesh was cut open to the bone. As he lay on the floor a man deliberately walked out. The officer after recovering somewhat from the shock, summoned a companion, and proceeded to Dr. Huselton's office, where his wound was dressed. He is off duty.

Obituary.

We regret to announce the death of one of our prominent citizens in the demise of Samuel W. Reynolds. The deceased has occupied many positions of trust in our city, and in his private as well as his public life has exhibited all those characteristics of honesty, fidelity and gentle manly demeanor which will hereafter endear him to the hearts of his friends. To his family we extend our sincere condolence, and yet hope that the sad blow which has taken a husband from his companion, and a father from his children may show them the feeling which his old friends and fellow citizens feel for a brave soldier, an affectionate husband and father, and a faithful, honest citizen. Another of the 155th gone.

The Oldest in the City.

It is only right that some importance should be attached to the length of time during which a firm has been established. A long business career demands a certain amount of confidence, in those who have for many years carried on business with success. It is gratifying to us to be able to chronicle the fact that the Sewing Machine Agency of Straw & Morton was the first established west of the mountains, and that it has ever been a successful and remunerative agency. The Improved Singer Machine which they are now offering to their friends has long since received general public endorsement, and taken the position of the most complete and best of any offering. During the past year the sales of this machine were one hundred thousand in excess of those of any of its rivals.

Literary Entertainment.

MESSRS EDITORS GAZETTE: A grand literary entertainment was given by the Josh Billings Literary Society," on the evening of the fifteenth of March, at school No. 3, Clinton township, Butler county, Pa. The evening was beautiful. The roads were in a fair condition. Early in the evening the house was crowded to its utmost capacity, insomuch that it is was almost public property. The opening address was delivered by Mr. Samuel Anderson. He requested the favor of the audience by giving their attention, which was in a remarkable degree complied with considering the immense crowd. Music was given by Prof. Davis' String Band. Elocutionary reading was given behind the curtain by the eminent and far-famed elocutionist, Miss Walters. A class of young ladies entertained the audience, with a few pieces of vocal music. The closing address was made by Prof. William Riddle and Robert Thompson. The audience was then dismissed, and all went to their happy homes, with feelings that they never had spent an evening so pleasantly. A few more such moves would certainly awaken an educational interest. A. S.

Eclipse Ice Company.

SINCE Ice has come to be to our people, not merely a luxury, but a necessary article of daily use during the warm weather, it becomes important to every family that the ice used by them should be pure and wholesome; most of the ice taken from the Allegheny river, once so good, has now, by reason of the oil and drainage of refineries become impure and unwholesome. The ice gathered from stagnent poofs, of which mcuh was sold last season, is liable to serious objection as being unhealthy.

Messrs. K. Blair & Co. a very respectable firm have, we think, hit upon the true and safe plan, by erecting a dam on Chartiers Creek, some miles above the mouth, and gathering their ice from the pool thus formed in a living stream of pure soft water; of this ice they have stored away over 3000 tons, perfectly sweet and pure, adapted to family use. This ice is known as the Eclipse Co's ice and should not be confounded with "Chartiers ice" so called, made at the mouth of the Creek on back-water from the Ohio river, and subject to the same objections as the Allegheny ice.

We advise our readers of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to lose no time in making their choice and handing in their orders. Orders for Pittsburgh delivery, left with Reymer Brothers, 126 and 128 Wood street, or for Allegheny delivery, at Wm. Ralston's, No. 19 South Diamond street, will be promptly delivered each day in any quantity desired, by careful and attentive drivers.

Mr. Blair, one of the proprietors of the Eclipse Ice Company, was for many years a public caterer, and knowing exactly how our citizens have been vexed with bad ice, determined to remedy the evil, and we think he has well earned the patronage of the lovers of clean, pure, wholesome ice, we hope he will receive it in large measure. Try the Eclipse ice, you will not regret it.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

A Fatal Accident on the Panhandle Railroad—Coroner's Investigation.

Another fatality has occurred near Cork's Run Tunnel, on the Panhandle Railroad. Yesterday, at about 11:30 A. M., as a freight train going west was being run on the siding at Nimick's Station, to allow another freight going east to pass, the engineer on the former noticed a man walking on the track, about forty yards in advance of his engine. He whistled down breaks, and gave ample warning to the man; but he, seeming to see only the train on the siding, kept on his way, going neither to the right nor to the left. It was impossible to check the heavy train in time to save the man's life, and he was knocked down and instantly killed.

The Coroner was notified of the accident, went out to the place, and held an inquest over the remains. The only way in which the deceased could be identified was by a pass book found in one of his pockets, from which it appears that he had been a carpenter in the employ of a man named Wright, in business at Noblestown. He was apparently about forty years of age, wore a full, dark beard, and at the time of his accident wore a black felt hat, blue pantaloons, and a pair of new brogans. The remains were brought to this city and taken to the undertaking establisment of Ludwig Bienhauer, on Grant street. They will, unless claimed by friends, be interred at the expense of the county.

SUICIDE.

A Young German Cuts His Throat with a Razor—Domestic Trouble Assigned as the Cause.

Coroner West yesterday afternoon held an inquest on the remains of a young German named Marcus Schencke, who injured himself fatally yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor, at the residence of his brother in St. Clair borough. From the evidence before the Coroner's jury, it appears that deceased went to bed Monday night about nine o'clock, and arose about three o'clock yesterday morning. His brother heard him rummaging about the room, but thought he was hunting for matches, and paid little attention to his movements. Schinck then went to the fire-place, and after standing there a few moments suddenly fell back on a bed which was close by. The brother arose and poked the fire, and by the dim light saw the blood gushing from the terrible gash in his throat. Before he could move toward Marcus, the latter again drew the razor across the gaping wound and then dropped it on the floor. The deed was committed about three in the morning, and the unfortunate man died, from loss of blood, about three hours afterward.

Deceased is said to have married a young German girl only a few weeks since, and he is said to have told his brother, after cutting his throat, that her unfaithfulness had driven him to the act. Deceased was only twenty-four years of age.

PITTSBURGH CONFERENCE.

Yesterday Morning's Session—Closing Up Business—The Appointments For Next Year.

Conference re-assembled at eight o'clock yesterday morning, Bishop Simpson in the chair.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. D. Hess.

ADMITTED ON TRIAL.

The first disciplinary question, "Who are admitted on trial?" was taken up, and the following, who were recommended in due form, were admitted: Joseph E. Wright, Cassius M. Wesley, John A. Wright, Sylvanus Lane, Theodore N. Eaton, Wm. H. Rider, W. D. Starking, Solomon Keebler, and Harlan Appleton.

A SUPERANNUATED RELATION.

Rev. E. Birket was at his own request granted a supeannuated relation.

Rev. Mr. Bracken stated that there were some irregularities in the case of Rev. Mr. Gregg, transferred from the Missouri Conference. On motion the matter was referred to the Presiding Elder of the Barnesville District.

There being no further business, the Bishop read the hymn commencing "And let our bodies part," which the members of Conference and the audience joined in singing. Prayer was then offered by Rev. T. M. Hudson.

The chair announced the following Committee on Orphanage:

Ministers—W. A. Davidson, C. A. Holmes, S. H. Nesbit, W. Cox, A. B. Leonard, R. T. Miller, S. Crouse.

Laymen—J. W. F. White, Joseph Walton, Jacob Miller, J. H. Walter, Dr. J. Murray, John Hunter, A. Bradley, John F. Dravo.

CLOSING WORDS.

The Bishop then made a few remarks, preparatory to announcing the appointments, expressive of his thanks for the fraternal feelings which they had manifested toward him during the session. The appointments he said had been made with the utmost care that could be bestowed upon them. The best that could be done was done. He did not expect that entire satisfaction would be given. There must necessarily be some disappointment in these ministerial changes, but they had been arranged in the fear of God and for the best welfare of the church. He said that in some instances the expressed wishes of the majority of the Conference in regard to the Presiding Elders, had not been complied with. In the instances referred to the whole subject had been carefully considered and it was only then that the appointments were made. He concluded his remarks by some earnest advice to the members of the Conference in regard to the work to which they had been appointed for the ensuing year.

Dr. Cox moved that "the Conference highly appreciates the labors of their beloved Superintendent, and would be glad to have him come again to preside over their deliberations as often as possible," which was adopted by a rising vote.

The Bishop—I certainly feel gratified at this expression of fraternal feelings, and thank you for it; but it might have been just a little more pleasant had it come after the appointments, instead of before. [Laughter.]

BREVITIES.

THE theatrical season is to close, so far as the Fifth Avenue Opera House is concerned, next week.

THEODORE TILTON is announced to lecture next Thursday evening, at Library Hall, his subject to be "Home, Sweet Home."

ACTING MAYOR NEELY yesterday morning collected $63 from the festive youths who had become enthusiastic over the previous day's celebration.

LEOPOLD VIELSACK and Edward Frauenheim, proprietors of the Iron City Brewery, who were arrested for violation of the revenue laws a few days ago, yesterday gave bail for trial.

Two petitions in bankruptcy were filed yesterday in the U. S. District Court by David Clark and J. Sharp McDonald against J. D. Johnson. The parties are all coal dealers.

WE were pleased to make the acquaintance of Mr. G. T. Reynolds, correspondent of the Uniontown Standard, who has been in attendance at the annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference, M. E. Church for the past week.

A HEARTLESS editor, in declining a poem called "The Drowning Boy," says to the poet, "You speak of your subject as floating in the water, and then you afterwards speak of him as lying on his bier. Now, which is it, water or bier?"

SOME malicious rascal on Sunday afternoon turned on the water in DeHaven's foundry, Allegheny. Before it was discovered the floor in the foundry had been covered with water to the depth of several inches, by which the moulding sand on hand was destroyed.

HUGH RICHARDSON, a resident of Mansfield, while in a state of intoxication on Monday evening, lay down on a burning slack heap near Steen's coal works, and before discovered was very seriously burned. He explained afterward that he was too drunk to know that the slack pile was on fire.

REPORTS of the election held at Temperanceville, on Friday last, were not furnished us at the time. We learn from a citizen of that town that about one hundred votes were polled, all for consolidation, except two, so that the districts on the South Side which voted for annexation to the city, are Temperanceville, Mount Washington, Ormsby, Union and Monongahela. What is to be done in this case?

AMONG the ministerial changes made yesterday by Bishop Simpson, presiding over the Pittsburgh Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, was the transfer of the Rev. J. R. Mills from the North Avenue Station, Allegheny, to Sewickley. This reverend gentleman is an excellent preacher and an efficient pastor, whose abilities in public, and geniality in private life have won him firm and admiring friends during his stay in Allegheny. That appointment at least should give satisfaction.

THE friends of Captain Alexander McCallum, formerly of the house of McCallum Brothers of this city, will be grieved to hear of his death at Richmond, Va., on Sunday last. The Captain did valiant service in the late war, and was much esteemed by all who knew him. We have not heard the particulars of his sickness and death. His remains have been brought to this city, and his funeral will proceed at 2 o'clock to-day from the residence of his relative, Mr. John A. Shephard, No. 203 Penn avenue.

YESTERDAY we had the pleasure of meeting with our worthy friend Sigismund Leow, Esq., who has been for some time past one of the chief explorers of the far western country laying out a line for the projection of the Northern Pacific Railway. Mr. Leow has attained national reputation as a Civil Engineer and deserves all the encomiums thus far showered upon him. His many friends here will be glad to greet him with cordial welcome, although he is permitted only to enjoy a short furlough at home.

THE Water Commission are going ahead with business. Yesterday they filed petitions in the Court of Quarter Sessions for the appointment of viewers to assess the damages on the condemnation of the portions of property owned by Clarissa Herron, Wm. A. Herron, C. B. Seely, Lockhart & Frew, and Casper Negley, which the Commission was authorized to take for the water works, at the last meeting of Councils. The Court appointed Messrs. John McKelvey, Jacob Covode and T. H. Nevin viewers in all the cases.

WE stated in yesterday's issue that a little child of Mr. Walton, of the Seventeenth ward, had been run over and seriously injured yesterday afternoon. The child—a little five year old girl—was more seriously injured than was at first supposed; its leg having been broken, and other injuries being inflicted, so that at last accounts the child was lying in a critical condition. The driver of the team which had run over the child was arrested, and committed to jail by Deputy Mayor Nichols, to await the result of the injuries.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

The largest day's business ever done at the Central Station house was that disposed of by the Mayor at the early morning court. Some ninety-one cases were disposed of, most of which were given "one dollar and costs, or forty-eight hours, to the hill." John Coyle went to the work house for thirty days; William Bowen, sixty days; John Lynch and William Monroe, twenty days each, and Michael Gilchrist, for striking his wife with a poker and breaking furniture, was sent up for a term of six months.

Another suspicious character was arrested yesterday, dressed in garb supposed to be not his own, and in the act of buying a "Sunday suit" with a check which, it seems more than probable, he came into possession of by dishonest means. A hearing has not been had.

Martin Gray, a laborer in the Clinton Mill, charges Michael Sullivan, clerk, with assault and battery.

Thomas Dunn, of Six Mile Ferry, appeared before Alderman McMasters against a father, mother and three sons by the name of Bradley, charging them with riot. The deponent alleges that on Saturday last John Bradley, Sr., came to his house and attacked and beat him. The next morning, it is alleged, the whole family come and laid siege to the house, battering it with sticks and stones, and keeping the inmates prisoners for a considerable length of time. Warrants were issued for the alleged belligerents.

Last evening Charles Engelkamp had a hearing before the Mayor, on the charge as assault and battery preferred by three German immigrants, who claimed to have been imprisoned in the house of the accused, and then beaten over the head with a billet of wood. Engelkamp was held to answer at Court.

Jno. Biggert & Son,

Agents of the WEED FAMILY FAVORITE Sewing Machine, request every one in search of a machine, filling every requirement, to call at 116 Market street, and examine the Weed. Do not be persuaded to buy any machine until you have first examined the Weed. If we cannot convince you that it is the one you want, of course you need not buy it, and we shall always find pleasure in showing our goods whether we sell or not, we shall esteem it a favor to have you call on us. tf.

Public Entertainments.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—Another moderately large adience assembled at the Pittsburgh Opera House last night. "The Waifs of New York" was again presented, and again that portion of the audience which occupied the galleries—at it was probably the larger portion—was delighted with Kate Raymond in her peculiarly (to them) attractive style of acting, and the sensational scenes with which the play abounds. There is but little in the piece to attract a highly cultured audience, and therefore the parquette and dress circle do not get their usual proportions of the audience. One marked characteristic of the performance is the long drawn-out wordy street rencoutres, and the long and tiring pauses between the acts and scenes. The piece will be repeated to-night.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HUUSE.—To-night, at the Fifth Avenue, Mr. J. M. Charles, the comedian, will take his first and only benefit, upon which occasion will be presented, for the first time on any stage, the sensational drama entitled "Birth and Gold." The play was written by Messrs. J. M. Charles and J. C. Mink. Mr. Charles is a deserving actor, and has many friends in this city, who will doubtless evince their good will by their presence this evening.

ACADEMY OF ART AND DESIGN.—The fine display at the Art Gallery, in Library Hall, should not be overlooked or forgotten by our art loving community.

Educational.

The Annual Teachers Institute of Allegheny county, will meet on Monday, April 1st, at the usual place, the Fourth Ward School-house, Pittsburgh, at 9½ o'clock A. M.

Teachers, directors, and friends of education generally are invited to be present. Professor Lewis B. Monroe, of Boston, Mass., Prof. E. E. White, of Columbus, Ohio, Prof. Loos, of Bethany College, West Va., Prof. Harvey, State Commissioner of Education in Ohio, and other prominent educators, will be present during the week to give instruction. It is the aim of the County Superintendent and Executive Committee to make this the most practical as well as most instructive Institute ever held in Allegheny county.

By order of the Executive Committee. STW.

AT WORK IN ALLEGHENY.

Permanent Organization of the Allegheny City Republican Club—The Officers Chosen—A New Recruit—Ready For Active Operations.

Last night the Allegheny City Union Republican Club held a meeting in the Select Council chamber.

President Hobson called the meeting to order at eight o'clock, when the minutes of the preceding meeting were approved.

Mr. D. L. Smith moved to proceed with the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Mr. Megraw moved to postpone that matter until a permanent place of meeting had been agreed upon. Carried.

Mr. John A. Myler, from the Committee on Hall reported that they could still secure the hall over the Second National Bank, which was the only one that was available. The committee however, desired positive instructions from the Club before renting it.

On motion of Mr. Smith the Committee was instructed to rent the hall at once.

Mr. Smith then moved that the organization be proceeded with by the election of permanent officers. Carried.

Mr. Peter Walters, suggested that the iniation fee should first be paid in, by those who desired to vote.

Mr. Smith contended that as the club had no officer to receive the money they must first elect officers, ratify the constitution, and then pay in the money.

The motion to elect officers was carried and the Chairman announced nominations in order.

Mr. Theo. Myler nominated Mr. Hugh McNeill of the Fourth ward as President.

Mr. Smith nominated Mr. Geo. Black of the Fifth ward, but subsequently withdrew the nomination, as he was informed that Mr. Black could not serve.

Mr. Walker nominated Mr. James McBrier of the Third Ward.

Mr. McBrier declined. He would not enter a contest for the office. He thought the matter might have been better done by a Committee on nominations. He also thought the point of order well taken that none could vote until they had paid in their initiation fee.

After some discussion Mr. McBrier was allowed to withdraw, and on motion of Mr. Theodore Myler, Mr. McNeill was elected by acclamation.

A committee waited upon Mr. McNeill, and brought him into the hall. Upon being introduced the gentleman said, "Gentlemen, this is altogether unexpected to me, and I only wish you had selected some one more worthy the honor. But I don't think you could have selected one whose heart is more in sympathy with the cause. We are now ready for business."

Mr. Arthur Hobson was elected Treasurer by acclamation, and an interval of ten minutes was spent in receiving the initiation fees of those who became members.

Messrs. Robert Dilworth and Theodore Myler were nominated as Secretaries, but upon Mr. Dilworth declining Mr. Myler was elected by acclamation.

Messrs. J. R. Oxley and James Walker were named for Corresponding Secretary. Mr. Oxley declined in favor of Mr. Walker, and that gentleman was elected. Several negative voices were heard and a division was called for, but the chair decided the call out of order as the result had been announced previously.

Mr. Megraw who nominated Mr. Walker then withdrew his name. He considered it an insult upon himself and Mr. Walker for any one to vote against him when there was no other candidate. If the opposition had wanted another man they should have made a nomination. He would not allow any one whom he had named to be treated with disrespect.

The chair decided the matter out of order, Mr. Walker had been regularly elected and could not be withdrawn.

Mr. Megraw insisted upon the withdrawal, and denounced the method which had been taken to treat as good a Republican as any of them with disrespect.

Mr. Hobson thought the gentleman (Mr. Megraw) had taken a wrong view of the case. He did not think a disrespect was intended—did not know what the trouble was. To settle the matter, however, he moved a reconsideration of their vote, which was carried.

Mr. Hobson moved that the gentleman be elected by acclamation. Carried.

Mr. John A. Myler moved that a committee be appointed to select a list of candidates for Vice Presidents, and report the same at the next meeting. Carried, and Messrs. John A. Myler, Robert Dilworth and Henry Warner appointed.

Mr. D. L. Smith called attention to the presence of Mr. Isaac Stern—an old-line Democrat—in the lobby and took pleasure in informing the club that he had became convinced of the "error of his ways" and desired to make amends for the past by assimilating with the true party and working earnestly for its success. (Applause.) In furtherance of this object, the speaker moved that Mr. Stern be called upon to relate his experience and conversion. (Laughter.)

Mr. Hobson—I move to amend that he first be allowed to pay five dollars initiation fee. [Laughter].

Mr. Stern being thus appealed to, stepped forward, signed the roll and handed over the funds. As he did so,

Mr. Hobson remarked, "The world is moving, gentlemen."

Mr. Dilworth—We see the first fruits of the club. [Laughter].

Mr. McNeill—The first gun has been fired. [More merriment].

The new member received these fraternal congratulations with serenity, but declined to address the Club.

Mr. Oxley saw a distinguished member of the Republican party—Col. James M. Cooper—in the lobby, and thought the Club desired to hear from him.

Mr. Hobson suggested his amendment in reference to the initiation fee. [Laughter.]

Col. Cooper said he was always willing to respond to any calls of that character where the advancement of the Republican party was concerned. He was heartily in favor of their organization and desired to identify himself with it—under the single provision that he be allowed to fight in the ranks. He expected to contribute to the lighting of the old fires along the line during the coming campaign. (Applause.) He was glad to see that they had commenced the work in earnest and that there were indications of an active campaign. Whenever the question was up as to whether Republicanism or Democracy was to prevail, he was ready to respond by contributing all in his power to the success of Republicanism—the true representative of the people. (Applause.)

At the close of his remarks the speaker clinched them in a very satisfactory way by a contribution of $25, as his first installment toward the financial ease of the club.

Mr. Smith moved that the Secretary be instructed to notify the members of the club, by circular, of the time of the next meeting of the club. Carried.

Adjourned.

Statistical Lesson.

A strong point in favor of the Singer Sewing Machines, is the fact of the large sales which have been made throughout the country—larger according to the statistics than any other. The lesson from these statistics is that the "Singer" is popular everywhere, and popularity in such a matter as this is a pretty good indication that the article possesses real merit.

The agents for the Singer Machine in this city are Messrs. Straw & Morton, whose headquarters are at the corner of Penn and St. Clair streets. So well satisfied are they that the merits of the "Singer" will bring it into public recognition that no city canvassers have been employed and the machine is emphatically allowed to "sell itself." The success which has attended this method of doing business has been in the highest degree satisfactory, and has in every way justified the confidence of the agents. Many a household in our community is possessed of a "Singer Machine" which is prized as one of the treasures. Messrs. Straw & Morton claim for it excellencies above others, and will be pleased to explain its merits to all contemplating a purchase.

An Attractive Stock.

One of the most attractive places of business in Allegheny, is the neat jewelry establishment of Mr. S. M. Orr, corner Federal street and Park Way. It is filled with a beautiful assortment of jewelry, watches, clocks and silverware, which make a glittering display.

The beauty of the stock, however, is not the feature which attracts so many patrons to the establishment; it is rather the excellence of work for which it has become so well-known. Everything in the store is guaranteed to be exactly as represented, and will be found in every respect to give satisfaction to the purchaser.

Mr. Orr also pays especial attention to the repairing of watches and clocks. and for which specialty he employs a number of first-class hands. It is a house which it gives us pleasure to recommend.

A SACRAMENTO telegraph-office is ridding itself of loafers. The Bee says: "A box running the full lenght of the front of the office on the outside has heretorore furnished a tempting seat for the habitues. This has been covered with zinc which has been connected with the batteries that were contained in the box. A person sitting upon the box without touching his hands thereto will not feel the electricity, but if his hands drop on the box, or he puts them thereon to assist him in rising, he receives such a sudden and astonishing shock as sends him an unbelievable number of feet towards the lofty roof and adjacent river. Any good day a person may see some of these unfortunates unexpectedly struck with this domesticated lightning, describing a fifty-feet parabola in the air."

NEW and extensive iron works are in progress in Burlington, New Jersey, and a club of mechanics and moneyed men has been recently formed for the purpose of building some sixty houses for the accommodation of the foundrymen. This is only a beginning, as double the above number of houses must be built in the same vicinity to accommodate the working population required by the iron works referred to. In purchasing a site for the latter, the proprietors wisely secured all the land around them, thus controlling the character of the buildings as well as that of the population that was sure to be attracted to the location.

GREAT INVENTIONS.

Instructive Lecture by William Bakewell, Esq., at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms Last Evening.

The eighth lecture of the free course, being given under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, was delivered last evening, at the hall of the Association, by William Bakewell, Esq. The subject chosen by the lecturer—"Great Inventions"—is one of vital interest in this community, where there are so many different ways of utilizing all the inventive genius which has been or may hereafter be developed; and this interest was manifested last evening by the gathering of a large audience, composed, in the main, of men evidently come together with a view to receive instruction or enlightenment rather than mere entertainment, and one might easily guess that any knowledge thus obtained would be put to the best practical account.

The lecture was comprehensive in its character, and treated, in general terms, on the influence which inventions have had in all ages upon men, and in the moulding of history. In this connection the speaker stated that the history of inventions might in reality be said to be coexistent with the history of the human race, since one of the first acts of which we have any record performed after the fall was the invention of fig-leaf garments, and afterwards others more suited to the fallen pair—in the latter case man's genius, however, being directed by God's inspiration. The progress of invention was now followed down through the ages, in its various stages, in general terms, until the Nineteenth century was reached, when the speaker enumerated a list of articles and appliances which, at the present day, are considered almost, if not absolutely, indispensible, but which, a few score of years, or at most, a few centuries ago, were entirely unknown.

After speaking thus in a general and comprehensive way of the great things which had been accomplished through the medium of invention, all of which had been accomplished by the varied application of a few elementary principles, such as the lever, the screw, the wedge, the incline plane, magnetism, heat, &c.—a few of the most important inventions were particularized, and dwelt upon at considerable length. The chief of these were: The art of communicating ideas by means of phonetic writing; the art of printing; type founding; the compass; the steam engine, the electric telegraph, and photography. The items dwelt upon to the greatest extent were the steam engine, the electric telegraph and the compass; and if the scope of the lecture had been narrowed down so as to include only these three important triumphs of art, it would have been one worthy the careful attention and earnest and thoughtful study of a very large class in our community, who deem themselves tolerably well versed in the history of these great inventions. As it was, the lecture was brimful of instruction to every thinking man, or woman—for there were a few ladies in the audience.

In closing, the lecturer explained that the subject treated was necessarily so comprehensive that he had been utterly unable to do justice to any one of the inventions spoken of, and there were very many of a highly important chcracter which he had been entirely unable to touch upon.

A Woman Escaping in a Box.

In the winter of 1857 a young woman, who had just turned her majority, was boxed up in Baltimore and conveyed as freight to the depot at Baltimore, consigned to Philadelphia. Nearly all one night the box remained at the depot, and after being turned upside down more than once, the next day, about 10 o'clock, reached Philadelphia. A hackman, Geo. Custus, was hired to bring it from the depot to the house of Mrs. Myers, 412 South Seventh Street, where the resurrection was to take place.

Custus, without knowing what the box contained, suspecting, from the apparent anxiety of the young man who engaged him to go after it, that it was of great importance, while the freight car stood in the street, demanded it of the freight agent. At first the freight agent declined delivering it under such circumstances. The hackman insisted by saying that he wished to dispatch it in great haste; said "it is all right; you know me; I have been coming here for many years, and will be responsible for it." The freight-master told him to "take it and go ahead with it." No sooner said than done.

The secret had been intrusted to Mrs. M. A feeling of horror came over the aged woman who had been thus suddenly intrusted with such a responsibility. A few doors from her lived an old friend of the same religious faith as herself, well known as a brave woman and a friend of the slave, Mrs. Ash, whom she called in. Her own family was excluded from witnessing the scene. The two aged women chose to be alone in that fearful moment, shuddering at the thought that a corpse might meet their gaze instead of a living creature. They pried off the lid. A woman was discovered in the straw, but no sign of life was perceptible. Their fears seemed fulfilled. "Surely she is dead," thought they.

"Get up, my child," said one of the women. With scarcely life enough to move the straw covering, she, nevertheless, did now show signs of life. She could not speak, but being assisted, arose. She was straightway helped up stairs, not uttering a word. After a while she said: "I feel so deadly weak." She was then asked if she would not have some water or nourishment, which she declined. Before a great while, however, she was prevailed upon to take a cup of tea. She then went to bed, and there remained all day. The second day she gained strength and was able to talk much better, but not with ease. The third day she began to talk quite freely. She tried to describe her sufferings and fears while in the box. In her severest agonies her chief fear was that she would be discovered. She had a pair of scissors with her, and to procure fresh air, she made a hole in the box, but it was very small.
